Foreword

This book you are now opening is more than just an annual; it is a realization of dreams that we hardly dared hope would come true. A hard-fabric cover, improved pictures, and additional pages have been made possible this year for the first time. So it is with great pride that we, the staff, present to you the 1954-55 Schooner.

By electing James DuBoise president, Steve Cathey vice-president, Judy Stevenson and Iris Luschen secretaries, and Robert MacMinn treasurer, we are hoping to go places.

The day had arrived!! The senior class was beginning their last year at U.H.S. For the first few weeks they tried to convince themselves that they were really seniors. Those seniors who hadn't already learned how to make passing grades without cracking a book, how to argue Dr. Cartwright out of going to study hall, and how to make the lower classes feel inferior, soon acquired these senior habits.

As the year passed they discovered that being a senior was something to live up to. Those who weren't leading the school's activities were kept busy finishing up necessary graduation requirements.

Getting ready to leave on the senior trip are Lyle Cartwright, Steve Cathey, James DuBoise, and Karen Wheeler.

Representing the senior class on the senior high basketball team are James DuBoise, Preston Willoughby, Ronnie Wall, Jerry Warren, and Robert MacMinn.

When their last year at U.H.S. drew to a close, they suddenly realized that they would be leaving behind much they would miss in the years ahead.

Morrow and Forrest Franklin served. For both semesters Larry Poston was reporter.

The juniors had a gay time at two parties of their own making---the class party and the school party, both real gone affairs. The class party started out near Noble but was chased to Bob Brandenburg's house due to interference from the local native resistance group. This was the Halloween party and such things had to be expected. The school party was on the first of April and everyone came dressed as everything. This and the usual gloom over the state of the treasury rounded out the junior year, with one more left before the ax would fall.

This year the sophomore class has proved that "It's quality--not quantity--that counts."

Although the smallest class in the school, the sophomores have entered actively into all school events. Members have participated in basketball, baseball, "U" Club, Red Hots, Orchestra, Chorus, Ducklings, Student Council, Schooner, and Sooner Cub. Whatever or wherever, there were the sophomores--few, but important!

Late in the spring the sophomores had their class party at the country club. They and their guests had a big time picnicking, swimming, and dancing, as they looked back on a wonderful year and realized that they had just two more years for fun.

What's so exciting about a notebook for officers James Reed, president; Judy Cathey, treasurer; Stuart Crook, vice-president; and Kathleen Livezey, secretary.

Ann Rodke is a swell gal;
She's working all the day,
And has a very special pal,
Her little daughter, Gay.

He's on the ball, he's on the beam--
David Timmons is the guy we mean.
He has a smile and a great big "Hi"
For everyone who passes by.

Beverly Keylor's a new girl this year,
In the Red Hots she helps us cheer.
Don't ever think she's shy
Cause she's going with a good looking guy.

Tall, lean, and lanky,
Stuart Crook is his name;
He plays the drums pretty swanky
And he's also our "brain."

The sophomore party is a big success to judge from this group enjoying the dance at the Country Club!

Mary Jean's another bright face;
She's known for politeness and her grace,
She's quiet and hardly makes a sound
But we'd be lost without her around.

"Buenos dias" is familiar to all
As we pass Amparo and Alexis in the hall.
They're awfully far from home we know
But no one wants to see them go.

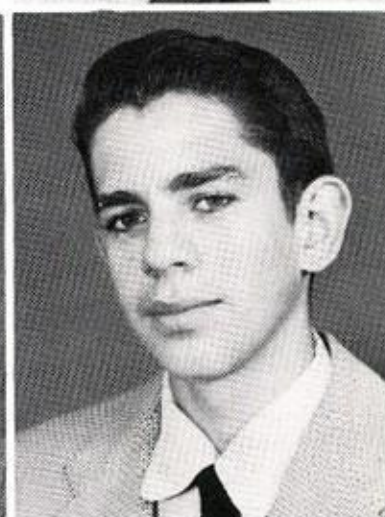

Judy Cathey, the belle of the room,
Always happy and never spreads gloom.
She's also cute as a bug in a rug
With a little nose that's really pug.

Johnny Wiens, the "card" of the class,
Provides us with lots of fun and laughs.
Teachers with fur coats are his pet peeve
And he's always got a trick up his sleeve.

She's got the brains and good looks too,
She always smiling and never blue.
If you don't know by now who we mean,
Think twice, of course, it's Kathleen.

Our president is James (All Star) Reed,
He's good looking, as we all agreed;
He's sharp on the court and the diamond, too.
And the first to notice the girls who are new.

Second semester officers were: Sam Franklin, president; Diane Daniels, secretary; and Tim Ragan, treasurer.

The Hobby Club soon revealed that the ninth grade included one philatelist and two numismatists.

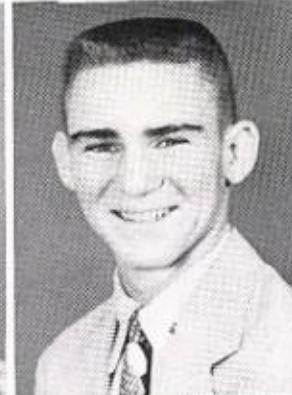

A class party at Virginia Thornton's home and an all-school dance (complete with moonlight and real music) on the patio of Building 602 on May 6, were very special occasions.

John Adams represented the class on the Sooner Cub staff and Jim White and John Adams were members of the Schooner staff.

also bought a combination screen and bulletin board and several potted plants which altogether made their classroom very attractive, and to some of them very "KAT." They celebrated with a "housewarming" at which their parents were guests, and they presented a program of songs and Indian dances. Of course there were refreshments, and the games and dancing were (as usual) the most fun of all. They're planning to use the room from now on as a Junior High Center.

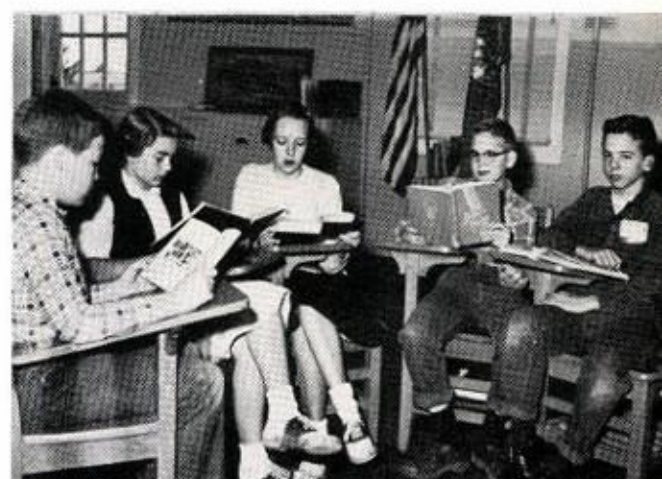

Are they social? Sure, they are! During the year they had a series of informal classroom parties, and before the end of school they entertained the eighth grade with a "Spring Frolic" which was really U N F O R G E T T A B L E !!

Planning for the annual orchestra picnic are the officers, Dianne Daniels, secretary; Kathleen Livezey, vice-president; Larry Poston, reporter; Helen Norman, librarian; grouped around the president, Thomas Mueller.

Orchestra

The orchestra started out with a big bang this year led by a new director, Mr. John R. Luce. Early in the year they entertained orchestra members' parents with a tea and concert.

Nine orchestra members were selected for the annual All-State Meet under the baton of prominent directors.

The annual district and state instrumental contests were entered by soloists from the string, wind, and percussion sections of the orchestra.

Under the direction of Mr. Luce; the student teachers; and the student conductors, Thomas Mueller and Larry Poston, the orchestra spent a large part of the year rebuilding sections. As a climax to the year's work, the combined orchestra presented a very successful spring concert.

To top off the fine year the annual picnic was held. It was a gala event enjoyed by all the members and their guests.

Schooner

So you think it was easy? Well, let us tell you! What could be more frustrating than to have your best pair of scissors sticky with rubber cement, to have hundreds of pictures to paste on layouts by tomorrow, and to have correctly typed cutlines turn up misspelled!

Advertising managers, Carol Conley and Diana Burdick, design a page of advertisements.

In spite of all calamities, at last, with the editor's fine leadership, with overtime, hard work, and lots of laughs, the staff completed this 1955 Schooner.

Hello!

No dough, no go!

Captain Joel

The morning after...

Who, me?

Down, girls !

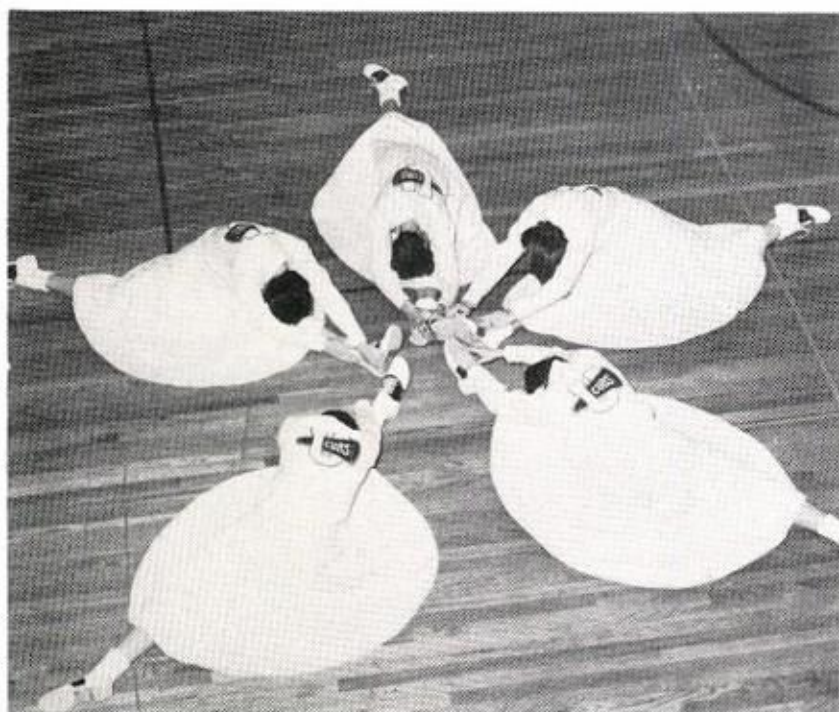

Sweet dreams.

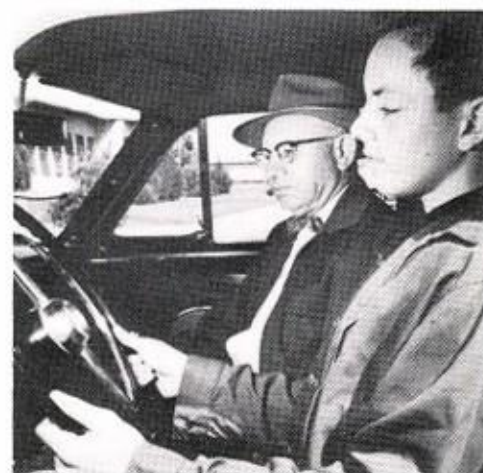

Steadies, no less.

Whose knock-knees ?

Praise Allah !

Don't miss that boy !

Bottoms up !

Crazy man, crazy !

Come on people,
let's get moving.

Now people I shouldn't have to tell you . . .

Turn in your red jackets.

likes.

Posture, kids!

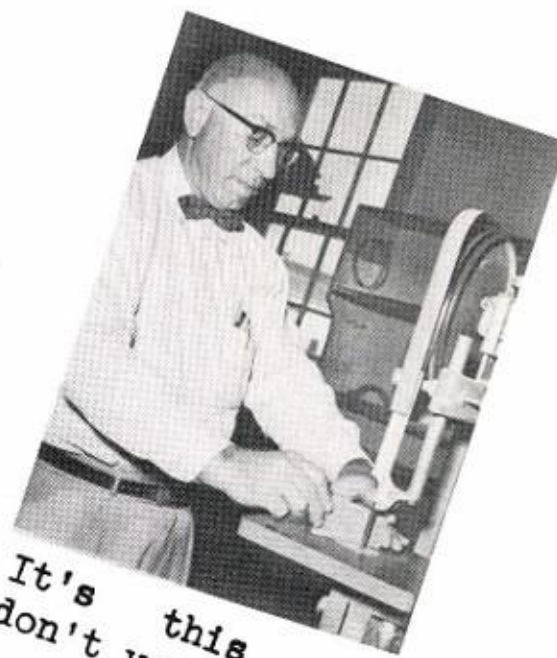

What's a deal?

Where do you belong this hour?

Now people, seriously !

It's this
don't you see. way
